

of it, however, is that so many people believe what they read, refusing to accept a father's denial, and they make it still harder by writing letters in which they denounce me for believing my son innocent. He has been pictured as a monster, yet it is more monstrous still that others, who pretend to be his friends, should go out of their way to relate a conversation which never took place, and which can only serve to humiliate and crush my family."

To Retire From Business.
Mr. Beattie also announced yesterday that he had definitely decided to retire from active business, another company having acquired his department store in South Richmond. While he will be interested in a financial way, he will not undertake to shoulder the entire responsibility of management, as he has for the past forty years. For the past eight years Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., had divided this responsibility, having been the virtual manager in two departments at least, and had given strict attention and fine business capacity to the entire establishment. Concerning the business change, Mr. Beattie made the following announcement:

"Having had it in mind for some time to retire from active business, there has been formed what will be known as the Hutzler Dry Goods Company, in which I will be interested as a stockholder. To this new company I have turned over my entire stock of merchandise, in what is known as the Beattie Block, and the business of my successors will be conducted at the same place and along the same general lines. That the friends and customers who have given me their generous patronage in the past will continue with the new concern is my earnest wish, as I am still interested, and will be on hand as formerly to help conduct the new enterprise, which will accord to you the same treatment and attention which I have done my best to give, during my nearly forty years' business in your community. In order that an inventory of stock can be taken, the store will be closed on Monday and probably the first half of the week."

Goes Often to See Henry.
Early yesterday afternoon Mr. Beattie went to the City Jail and spent some time with his son. The prisoner's meals are sent daily from the Beattie home in the Southside. While Beattie naturally realizes his position, he has consistently made it a point to be as cheerful as he can while his father is with him. There has been a strong bond between the two since Henry was an infant. Knowing, therefore, how the old father believes in his innocence, the prisoner's friends are convinced that even if guilty he will never confess. Henry's sole aim now, it is said, is to show how deeply grateful he is to the old father, who has never doubted his innocence, and who has stood by him in adversity, while the world passed judgment.

SHOWS ORIGIN OF HEART BEAT

Professor Keith Gives Demonstration of "Pacemaker" Tissue.
London, October 15.—Professor Arthur Keith has been giving at the Royal College of Surgeons demonstration of the origin of the heart beat, and has advanced much lately in knowledge of the functions and structure of the heart and the action of its diseases. One of the most remarkable of the demonstrations is that of a small mass of tissue, which has been named the "pacemaker of the heart," because it is apparently within this small mass of peculiar tissue that the beat of the heart has its origin. It only was five years ago that the structure was first recognized by Professor Keith and Dr. Martin Flack.

Dr. Thomas Lewis, of University College, using the latest methods of electrical investigation, found also that the site of the new structure was the point at which the heart beat appears. Although it is the chief centre for the activity and regulation of the heart, there are apparently many secondary centres which can take over the initiation of the heart beat, when the chief one is destroyed by disease or experiment.

POLICE SUPPRESS NEW DANCE

Breaking of Girl's Spine Leads to Stringent Measures.
Berlin, October 15.—The fifteen American dancing masters who were in Berlin at the Dancing Masters' Congress some time ago have expressed themselves as horrified at the "Anasche" or "Schlebe" dance, which is so prevalent in the Prussian capital. Stringent steps are now being taken by the police for the suppression of the dance. The real reason for the police intervention is that at one of the dancing halls which abound on the upper Spree the spine of one of the girls dancing was broken through the energetic efforts of her male partner. The American dancing masters, one and all, have declared that the dance is improper, and say that it would be impossible to introduce it into the United States. Nevertheless, the dance has found entrance into the best society circles here, and the dancing masters in the West End of the town declare that they count on leading society women among those who come to them to learn the "Schlebe tanz."

An end is to be put to this, and at the recent conference of dancing mas-

The "Day Letter" and the "Night Letter" increase the efficiency of your business day and multiply the power of your own personality.

THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH CO.

DUNLAP-AMERICAN.
The Dunlap-American. The Henry Heath-London. Two of the world's finest hat makes are here now for your coming fall and winter uses. Come in and decide between them for yourself.

Oct. 16, 1911

It was resolved that the American "two-step" should be the dance during the coming season.

INDIAN PRINCESS WINS LOVE OF A DUKE'S HEIR

Marquis of Stafford, Twenty-Three, Determined to Wed the Beautiful Oriental.

London, October 15.—British society is profoundly interested in the romance of the twenty-three-year-old Marquis of Stafford, heir of the Duke of Sutherland and his millions. The marquis has fallen madly in love with an East Indian princess, Pretiva, daughter of the late Maharajah of Cochin-Bihar.

The Cochin-Bihar family stayed all summer at Exhill, where young Stafford was an almost continuous visitor, paying attentions to the princess. The lovers are now temporarily separated, for the princess has gone to India with her mother.

The Marquis of Stafford's family has been at Exhill, where young Stafford was an almost continuous visitor, paying attentions to the princess. The lovers are now temporarily separated, for the princess has gone to India with her mother.

THREE SWEETHEARTS TO EACH MIDDY, NO MORE

Order Regulating Season's Hops at Military Academy Result of Case of Miss Beers.

Annapolis, Md., October 15.—The academic board of the Naval Academy has taken upon itself the duty of regulating the number of sweethearts each midshipman shall call his own. Word was passed to the brigade yesterday that each member would be allowed to take three young women to the series of hops this winter, and no more. The news caused great hilarity among the midshipmen, and in some cases consternation. Heretofore each midshipman has been at liberty to take as many different girls under his wing as he liked. Some never were seen with the same young woman twice.

It is rumored that an order prohibiting flirting or "the ogling of girls" within the limits of the academy is to follow. This will also cause a great hardship on the middies. Ogling is a favorite pastime Sunday afternoon.

The order relating to the three and no more young women, whose station in society, it is said, must be known to the officers or the members of the hop committee, was brought about by the recent case of Miss Mary Beers, daughter of the Yale professor, who was asked to leave the floor of the gymnasium because she was in the home of one of the officers here in the capacity of nursery governess.

It was stated on good authority that Miss Beers had been invited to attend last night's dance. It is known that she returned to Annapolis and remained throughout June week.

LAUGHS ALL NIGHT AT PRACTICAL JOKE

San Bernardino Man's Good Humor Nearly Cost Him His Life.

San Bernardino, Cal., October 15.—William Benson started laughing Friday when some friends played a joke on him. He laughed all night and until an early hour Saturday, when physicians called in by alarmed relatives and friends to have his life succeeded in quieting him.

Benson, who has been known throughout this section as "Laughing Bill," went out hunting Friday. For hours he shot at doves without bringing down one, and then learned that his friends had taken all the shot out of his shells. He roared with laughter at the joke on himself and could not stop.

All night his sides shook and tears rolled down his face. His friends finally became alarmed and called in physicians.

WILSON'S TIP ON BUSINESS SLUMP

Governor Tells Big Audiences Why Feeling of Unrest Exists.

PUBLIC DIDN'T COUNT

Small Groups of Men "Arranged Things" to Their Liking Despite Opinion.

Morrisstown, N. J., October 15.—Governor Wilson received a rousing welcome from the voters of Morris county yesterday. He spoke at Dover, Morrisstown and Madison, and at each of these places the halls were so crowded that many were unable to gain admission.

Speaking of business at the meeting here the Governor said: "I would like this audience very carefully to consider what it is that has disturbed our politics and disturbed our business in recent years. Has it not been the feeling that things were being done that were not being done in the open. Has it not been the feeling of no matter what the movement of public opinion was, that no matter what the natural movement of commerce and manufacturing was, some small body of men somewhere were going to arrange the thing without consulting the rest of the community?"

The Governor urged the voters to register and vote. "Now I am informed, if I may say so parenthetically, that there has been very light registration in this and nearby counties. Being fresh and blood persons don't you want to vote? You cannot vote unless you register. Are you different? Don't you care how affairs go in New Jersey? Don't you want to have a voice in them. Nobody else can register for you; you must go and register for yourself. Do you object to registering? It will take a little trouble; you have to be a little more in order to register, but do you object to being looked at and identified? Do you object to putting yourself at a little inconvenience to be there before the right hours? The hours are made so that it may be convenient for anybody who wishes to register. It was up to the voters, he said, to either approve or disapprove his administration, and he was extremely anxious as to what they do.

No More Make-Believe.
"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

"I want to remind you that it got to be so notorious that men would tell you the result of elections with shrugs of their shoulders and a cynical laugh. I can remember more than one election in this State when the election officers in Camden county waited until late in the afternoon to tell you the result, and then they said, 'It is as it is.' Is it radical to render that impossible?"

a little rest at home, get a new line on the tangled threads of the business enter, rises I am interested in since the adjustment of the clearing house note, and got those enterprises in what shape I can. After things have been straightened out, I do not know just what I shall do. Certainly I shall not make any attempt as has been reported, to become the 'cool king' of the West. I take it the 'cool dynasty' is rather complete as it is.

"I simply am going to straighten out my affairs as well as I can, and after that will engage in such enterprises as present opportunities haven't another thirty years to spare in going in for another struggle for financial prominence.

The former banker arrived in Chicago from Kansas City to-day, and went directly home, where he was welcomed by his wife and the families of his children. The day was spent quietly at home, where several of his friends visited him.

DIES IN DENTIST'S CHAIR

Fear of Having Teeth Pulled Fatal to Philadelphia Woman.

Philadelphia, October 15.—Fright caused the death yesterday afternoon of Laura Townsend, twenty-three years old, of 1225 South Sixth Street, while she was seated in the operating chair of a dentist here. The young woman refused to permit the dentist to remove a large tooth, and asked him to give her something to alleviate the pain of the operation.

The dentist injected a small quantity of cocaine into the gums, and, placing up his forceps, approached the patient, who, seeing the gleaming instrument with open eyes, burst into a scream and refused to open her mouth as he was about to request her to open her mouth she gave a slight gasp and fainted.

Becoming alarmed at the deathlike pallor of his patient, the dentist called a physician, who, passing the house at the time, the latter found the woman dead, and said that her heart had stopped when she saw the dentist approaching.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Physicians Unable to Determine Extent of Student's Injuries.

Athens, Ga., October 15.—Suffering from a blow on the head, received in a football game between the Athens and reserves yesterday, F. M. Moore, of South Carolina, a student at the University of Georgia, is in a local hospital in a serious condition. Moore was rendered unconscious by the blow, and had not regained consciousness late to-day. Physicians state they are unable to determine the extent of his injury.

DIES AT AGE OF 110 YEARS

Mrs. Nancy Williamson Said to Have Been Oldest Woman in South.

Augusta, Ga., October 15.—Mrs. Nancy Williamson, said to have been the oldest woman in the South, aged a little more than 110 years, died at her home in Augusta this afternoon. She is survived by nineteen grandchildren, thirty-three great-grandchildren and seventeen great-great-grandchildren. Though feeble and all but helpless, she recently had spent much time sewing articles of clothing for her youngest descendants.

BANKRUPT BY "THIRTEEN"

Merchant Whose Store Was No. 1313, Failed on Friday, the Thirteenth.

Washington, D.C., October 15.—Louis Sklar, a merchant, who operated a store at No. 1313 H Street, believes that "13" is a hoodoo. He got the double-cross on Friday, the 13th, and asked the District Supreme Court to adjudge him a bankrupt.

Mr. Sklar's attorney, Alvin C. Newmeyer, declared that he is "not the least bit superstitious," but he thinks so many thousands tripped his client.

10,000 LOST AND FOUND.

Profuse Thanks of the Loner Is the Only Reward of the Finder.

Santa Rosa, Cal., October 15.—Baggage at San Francisco, of the local Southern Pacific force, picked up a wallet containing a draft for $10,000, some valuable papers, considerable money and several tickets to Italy from a baggage truck where it had been carelessly left by Marco Corsi, who was leaving on the train for New York with his family en route to his old home in Tuscany, Italy. Stewart returned it to the owner and received only profuse thanks for his reward.

Wife of Alleged Dynamiter Brings Action for Divorce.

Chicago, October 15.—Ortie E. McManigal, the alleged dynamiter, on whose confession the prosecution in the McNamara trials expects convictions, was sued for divorce yesterday. His wife, Emma McManigal, charged extreme cruelty and cruelty.

Mrs. McManigal, in addition to cruelty, charged that her husband had entered an agreement with W. J. Burns whereby he was to receive immunity and a large share of the reward upon the conviction of the persons who blew up the Times building.

Odd-Fellows to Meet.

The Past Grand Associations of the Independent Order of Odd-Fellows, will hold their regular meeting to-night in the lodge room with Jefferson Hall, No. 4, at Fraternity Hall, 215 West Baltimore Street. A large attendance is expected. Grand Master James Mitchell, of Phoenix, Va., will be there. Several of the staff officers of the grand master will attend with him.

FREE ECZEMA CURE

Old, Deep-Seated Cases, Take Notice
B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) is taken internally and has cured, through the blood, innumerable cases of Eczema, Salt Rheum, itching, crusty humors, and all skin diseases. Treatment has failed. If you have pimples, itching humors, swellings, bumps, rashes, boils, crusty sores, take B. B. B. as directed on the bottle.

B. B. B. cures by purifying and enriching the blood, sending a flood of vivifying, healing blood direct to the skin surface, giving strength and healing just where it is needed. Soon all itching stops, pimples heal, pure, rich glow of perfect health. B. B. B. guarantees a perfect, lasting cure. B. B. B. is a liquid, made up of pure botanical ingredients, and sold by druggists at $1.00 per large bottle with directions for home cure. We will send a free trial of this precious remedy by mail, post paid, to any sufferer who writes for it. Just fill out the coupon below and mail it to:

DUCHESS OF AOSTA WILL HEAD NURSES

Against Wish of Her Husband, She Will Go to Theatre of War.

QUEEN HELENA DESIRED POST

War Correspondents Held on Board Warships While Bombardment Was Going On.

Chassau, Switzerland, October 15.—News of the determination of the Duchess of Aosta to go to the theatre of war at the head of the trained nurses caused considerable surprise, it being generally supposed that her husband was too feeble for such an arduous enterprise. At the duchess takes her position seriously she will work hard and also make her staff do so. The duke was much opposed to her undertaking so fatiguing a task, but she gained his consent by pointing out that the winter is coming on, that she will soon be obliged to go to Africa, anyway, for her health, and that it will be better to have her health occupation, and "anyway, she intended to do it." Naturally that closed the argument.

The duchess at the support and encouragement of the Duke of the Abruzzi, who being most energetic and patriotic himself, says no word of hesitation that he thinks women should be accorded their part, especially those who are anxious for it.

The duchess is much embarrassed in making a choice of the women who will accompany her, but it is shyly whispered that she will know whom to reject, after certain experiences of the Queen at Messina.

Queen Helena is most envious, as she herself would have gone had the King not forbidden her to do so. However, she has been an invaluable adviser to the duchess, as she had a magnificent experience in Messina.

Held on Board Warship.

Rome, October 15.—War journalism in Italy is perhaps no more difficult than in Japan, but the methods are different. Those enterprising papers which sent correspondents in the beginning to the scene of action were ordered for a long time why the expected copy did not arrive and where the men could be. The secret is now out.

The first batch of correspondents arrived in Tripoli from many directions, all at about the same time. One day, when a sufficient number had gathered, and the time had come when they might possibly reveal secrets, they were politely invited to take a trip about the adjacent waters on a better vessel than the lay of the land and the position of the action were ships. Scarcely believing the good luck, they one and all joyfully accepted the offer and the program was carried out. They saw everything, but when the time came to land the captain of Tripoli, with his hand on his heart, came to them and told them that hostilities were about to begin, and orders had come to him that no one was to be permitted to land. So unluckily that it should be just at this moment, but that is your fortune.

The cruise, according to all accounts, is still continuing. Deputy De Felles was luckier than the other correspondents. He is full of an exquisite humor, and under ordinary circumstances he is a very socialist, at all times to the fore with his cries of "Long live socialism!" and much more in the same strain. Now he is on the scene of action at Tripoli, his socialist principles are no longer to the fore, and our brave soldiers are now his brothers.

MADEIRA ELECTED HEAD OF REPUBLIC

Leader of Successful Revolution Succeeds to Seat of Former President Diaz.

Mexico City, Mexico, October 15.—Lacking only the ceremonies of the inauguration, Francisco I. Madero is president of the republic of Mexico. By a vote of the electoral college, which was practically unanimous, he was officially nominated to-day.

Jose Pino Suarez, without doubt, will be the Vice-President, if not already so. Even if he has failed to obtain a majority there is now no reasonable doubt that the Chamber of Deputies will name him Madero's lieutenant under Francisco de B. B. who obtained second place in the vote of the electoral college.

Francisco Vasquez Gomez was hopelessly defeated. To-night, accompanied by his wife, Madero left for a tour through the northern part of the republic, which will terminate at San Pedro de las Colonias, a little town in Coahuila, where he was born thirty-eight years ago.

A few scattering votes, perhaps 100, were cast for other candidates for the presidency, among them Porfirio Diaz, to whom some admirer in Cocoyacan gave one vote.

Enrico Vasquez Gomez, nominated for the presidency by a disaffected group of the anti-electionists, was remembered by an elector here, and there.

It was impossible to-night to say how large the vote has been. Under the electoral law of division there should be 30,000 members of the electoral college. It is probable that at the general elections on October 1, more than 25,000 were named, but reports to-night indicate that a number of these were thrown out because of improper credentials.

The Federal district gave Pino Suarez, 601; De la Barra, 202, and Vasquez Gomez, 10. This is approximately the proportion received by the candidates in a majority of the state capitals which reported to-night.

Pino Suarez himself is in Merida, the capital of Yucatan, where he was recently elected governor. He telegraphed to Madero claiming to have won a majority in that state, in Campeche, Tabasco and the territory of Quintana Roo.

It is impossible that when the report is all in Pino Suarez's lead may be greatly reduced. There appears to be no doubt that Pino Suarez will retain a plurality, but he may not get the necessary 51 per cent.

Although beaten to-night, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

At the same time, De la Barra, provisional President, and candidate for the vice-presidency on the ticket of the Catholic party, was perhaps more delighted over his defeat than was Pino Suarez over his success. Repeatedly he has refused to accept the nomination and the votes he received were given to him against his will.

ASatisfied Customer Speaking of The INNER-PLAYER Piano
Says: "This instrument (INNER-PLAYER) is a source of great pleasure to my family and friends. The tone is rich and resonant, and the action very responsive. The mechanical features are wonderful, especially the transposing device, which enables the singer to put in different keys the song, if same is either too high or low."

We have a large stock of 65 and 88-note Player Music Rolls at one-half off regular prices.

The Corley Co.
SUCCESSORS CABLE PIANO CO.
213 East Broad.

CHILD IS CHOSEN QUEEN OF BEAUTY

Palmira Ceccani, of Humble Birth, Showered With Regal Attentions.

Rome, October 15.—Among the many ways in which Rome has elected to celebrate her jubilee festivities, one of that of choosing among those born in the Eternal City a queen of beauty, who shall reign for the whole year, and who, in addition to a jeweled coronet, presented by The Messagero newspaper, is to receive a dowry when she marries, and has in addition obtained a tulle dress from various dress-makers.

Elections were held in the eighteen "rioni," or quarters into which Rome was divided in the Middle Ages, a queen was selected in each one of them, while the two girls who had the largest number of votes were appointed her princesses in waiting.

They were all entertained in the theatres and restaurants of Rome, and finally in the Great Hall of the Palazzo d'Armi, an election which lasted for two or three days, took place, in which the public, after gazing on the queens and their attendants who appeared on the platform, were permitted to record their vote as to which was best fitted to represent the beauty of Rome.